ACCT 6202 Introduction to Managerial Accounting

This course presents a detailed study of how managerial accounting information supports the operational and strategic needs of the enterprise and how managers use accounting information for decision-making, learning, planning and controlling activities within organizations. May not be taken for Accounting program credit. (2-0) S (2016-02-05 21:51:20)