ECON6351 - Development Economics

ECON 6351 (PPPE 6364) Development Economics (3 semester credit hours) An overview of theories of national economic growth and development in the context of developing countries. This includes macroeconomic models; the role of financial development, trade, and agriculture; domestic sectoral policy; human resource development; the environment; and poverty. (3-0) R (2016-02-06 00:16:58)