Graduate Programs in Political Science

Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science

75 semester credit hours minimum beyond the baccalaureate degree

Faculty

Associate Professors: Banks P. Miller, Clint W. Peinhardt

Clinical Associate Professor: Karl K. Ho

Assistant Professors: Jonas Bunte, Vito D’Orazio, Thomas Gray, Lauren Ratliff Santoro

Mission Statement

The Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science provides a rigorous, disciplinary program with strong multidisciplinary links. The Program consists of innovative, state-of-the-science graduate education in political methodology and the fields of Comparative Politics and International Relations; Law and Courts; and Political Institutions and American Politics. In the first two years of the program, students acquire research skills and tools, work on research projects, and acquaint themselves with professional norms in the discipline. Later, they have opportunities to develop their instructional and presentation skills and to conduct research answering an important question (or questions) in the field. Throughout, emphasis is placed on preparing students for life after graduate school in academia, government, or industry.

Objectives

• Students will demonstrate the ability to apply political science and other social scientific theories to research questions.

• Students will develop the ability to apply advanced methodological training in understanding important political and social questions.

• Students will develop advanced skills in professional communication appropriate for presentation to professional audiences in academia, government, or industry.
Facilities

Students have access to the computing faculties in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences and the University's computer labs. The school has four computing laboratories which house 24-30 computers each that are network linked and equipped with major social science software packages, including EViews, R, RATS, SPSS and Stata. A geographic information system, the LexisNexis database, and Westlaw are also available for student use. The University's computer labs provide personal computers and UNIX workstations. Many important data and reference materials are also available online via the library and the school's memberships in numerous organizations.

Admission Requirements

The University's general admission requirements are discussed on the Graduate Admission page.

Although applications will be reviewed holistically, in general, the Doctor of Philosophy in Political Science Program seeks applications from students with at least a baccalaureate degree from an institution of higher education. An undergraduate grade point average of at least 3.2 and a combined quantitative and verbal Graduate Record Examination (GRE) score of 310 are desirable. Standardized test scores are only one of the factors taken into account in determining admission. Applicants should submit all transcripts, three letters of recommendation, and a one-page essay describing educational and professional objectives.

Prerequisites:

While there are no specific course prerequisites, entering students will benefit from exposure to undergraduate courses in economics, political science, sociology, calculus, statistics, and research design.

Degree Requirements

The University's general degree requirements are discussed on the Graduate Policies and Procedures page.

The PhD in Political Science requires a minimum of 75 post-baccalaureate graduate semester credit hours. Full-time students can complete the degree in an average of 5 years. Students must receive a grade of B or better in all core courses and must maintain at least a 3.2 grade point average to graduate. If placed on probation, students will have one semester to bring their cumulative grade point average to a 3.0 or greater.

Semester Credit Hour Requirements

Students must complete the following:

- 18 semester credit hours of core courses
• Courses in Major Field: 12 semester credit hours
• Courses in Minor Field: 6 semester credit hours
• Core exam
• Field exam
• PSCI 8381 Research Seminar in Political Science (3 semester credit hours)
• Research Methods: 6 additional hours
• Electives: at least 12 semester credit hours
• Matriculation to the dissertation phase
• Successful completion of a dissertation
• Successful completion of 75 semester credit hours

The requirements are outlined in further detail below.

I. Core Courses (18 semester credit hours)

Core semester credit hours include three courses in Political Science methodology and theory, and three proseminars in the program fields.

PSCI 6350 Logic, Methodology, and Scope of Political Science

Methodology (6 semester credit hours)

One of the following sequences:

EPPS 6313 Introduction to Quantitative Methods and EPPS 6316 Applied Regression or

EPPS 7313 Descriptive and Inferential Statistics

and EPPS 7316 Regression and Multivariate Analysis

Three of the following four: (9 semester credit hours)

PSCI 6321 Proseminar in Comparative Politics

PSCI 6319 Proseminar in International Relations

PSCI 6311 Proseminar in Law and Courts

PSCI 6347 Proseminar in Political Institutions and American Politics

II. Major and Minor Field Courses (18 semester credit hours)

The field coursework consists of four courses (12 semester credit hours) taken in the student's chosen major field and two courses taken (6 semester credit hours) in the student's chosen minor field for a total of 18 semester credit hours of coursework. Students may select their major and minors from the following fields: Comparative Politics, International Relations, Political Institutions and American Politics, or Law and Courts.

Comparative Politics

- PPPE 6319 Political Economy of MNCs
- PSCI 6305 Workshop in Constitutional Law Studies

PSCI 6343 Law and the Policy Process
PSCI 6365 U.S. and International Asylum and Refuge Law
PPPE 6366 Law and Development

With approval of the Director of Graduate Studies or Program Head, other classes may be substituted for field courses.

III. Optional Concentration in Research Methods (12 semester credit hours)
In addition to major and minor field concentrations, students who have completed EPPS 7313 and EPPS 7316 can complete a concentration in research methods by taking four courses from the following list of research methods classes.

IV. Research Methods (6 hours)

Students must take two of the following classes:

- ECON 6306 Applied Econometrics
- ECON 6309 Econometrics I
- ECON 6316 Spatial Econometrics
- ECON 6320 Game Theory for the Social Sciences
- ECON 6380 Experimental Economics I
- ECON 7309 Econometrics II
- ECON 7315 Econometrics III
- ECON 7316 Game Theory
- EPPS 6324 Data Management for Social Science Research
- EPPS 6346 Qualitative Research Methods
- EPPS 6352 Evaluation Research Methods in Economic, Political and Policy Sciences
- EPPS 7304 Cost-Benefit Analysis
- EPPS 7318 Structural Equation and Multilevel (Hierarchical) Modeling
- EPPS 7344 Categorical and Limited Dependent Variables
- EPPS 7370 Time Series Analysis I
- EPPS 7371 Time Series Analysis II
- EPPS 7390 Bayesian Analysis for the Social and Behavioral Sciences
- EPPS 7386 Survey Research
- GISC 5322 (GEOS 5322) GPS (Global Positioning System) Satellite Surveying Techniques
- GISC 5324 (GEOS 5324) 3D Data Capture and Ground Lidar
- GISC 6301 GIS Data Analysis Fundamentals
- GISC 6384 (GEOS 6384) Advanced Geographic Information Systems
- GISC 6385 (GEOS 6385) GIS Theories, Models and Issues
- GISC 6388 Advanced GIS Programming
- GISC 7310 Advanced GIS Data Analysis

https://catalog.utdallas.edu/2017/graduate/programs/epps/political-science
GISC 7360 GIS Pattern Analysis
GISC 7361 Spatial Statistics
GISC 7363 Internet Mapping and Information Processing
GISC 7365 (GEOS 5326) Advanced Remote Sensing
PPPE 6310 Research Design I
PPPE 6342 Research Design II
PPPE 6V91 Evaluation Research (Field Practice) (6 semester credit hours)^1
PSCI 6364 Public Opinion and Survey Research
PSCI 6374 U.S. Global Security and Public Opinion
PSCI 7372 Game Theory for Political Scientists
Other courses as approved by the Director of Graduate Studies or Program Head.

V. Core and Field Exams

To advance to the dissertation stage of the program, students must pass both core and field exams. The core exam is taken at the first scheduled opportunity once students have completed the relevant core classes. The field exam consists of a field paper and an oral examination.

VI. Additional Coursework (12 semester credit hours minimum)

Students must take at least 12 semester credit hours of additional coursework.

VII. Research Seminar (3 semester credit hours)

After the core and field exams have been successfully completed, students are required to enroll in PSCI 8381 Research Seminar in Political Science or in an independent study with their likely chair to develop their dissertation prospectus. Full-time students should defend their dissertation prospectus prior to the start of their 4th year.

VIII. Electives and Dissertation Hours (variable semester credit hours)

In order to fulfill the 75 semester credit hour PhD requirement, students should enroll in a combination of additional electives and dissertation hours (PSCI 8V99 Dissertation). Students may not enroll in dissertation hours before they have successfully defended a dissertation proposal. No more than 6 semester credit hours of independent study (PSCI 7V83) may be taken, unless approved by the Director of Graduate Studies or Program Head.

IX. Dissertation
There are two possible options of dissertation format. One is the "book-length" format. Another option is the "three-paper" dissertation, which consists of three papers that may or may not be thematically related. The submission of an approved dissertation will complete the course of study for the PhD degree in Political Science. The procedure for approval of the dissertation is outlined in the UT Dallas Graduate Catalog.

Master of Arts in Political Science

30 semester credit hours minimum

Faculty

Associate Professors: Banks P. Miller, Clint W. Peinhardt

Clinical Associate Professor: Karl K. Ho

Assistant Professors: Vito D'Orazio, Thomas Gray, Lauren Ratliff Santoro

Mission

The mission of the Master of Arts in Political Science (MAPS) degree is to offer advanced instruction in the social science literature and theories about politics, citizenship, and governance. The program serves the interests and needs of talented students who can commit initially to a 30-semester credit hour program but may be attracted subsequently to the PhD program, as well as those who can commit initially to the doctoral program but subsequently decide not to complete the program.

Objectives

Students in the Master of Arts in Political Science program will:

- Develop a competency in one of the fields of Comparative Politics and International Relations; Political Institutions and American Politics; or Law and Courts.
- Develop skills in professional communication appropriate to political science research and analysis.
- Develop competency in analysis, evaluation, and research design relevant to political science research and analysis.

Facilities

Students have access to the computing facilities in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences and the University's computer labs. The school has four computing laboratories that have 24-30 computers that are network linked and equipped with major social science software.

PPPE 6366 Law and Development

Other field courses as approved by the Director of Graduate Studies or Program Head.
Three additional political science courses at the 6000 or 7000 level, or EPPS methods courses offered throughout the School, or internship. Students may write an optional thesis by registering for three semester credit hours of independent study.

Master of Arts in Political Science - Constitutional Law Studies

30 semester credit hours minimum

Faculty

Professors: Patrick T. Brandt, Thomas L. Brunell, Anthony M. Champagne, Murray J. Leaf, Marianne C. Stewart

Associate Professor: Banks P. Miller

Assistant Professor: Thomas Gray

Mission

The mission of the Master of Arts in Political Science - Constitutional Law Studies degree is to provide students with the reasoning and analytic skills necessary to understand the technical rules of law, legal practices and policies, and law more generally as a social phenomenon. It serves the interests and needs of students who want an intellectually rigorous legal education as preparation for law school, for more advanced graduate learning, or for law-related careers in teaching, journalism, government, policy-making, or the private sector.

Objectives

Students in the Master of Arts in Political Science - Constitutional Law Studies program will:

• Acquire detailed knowledge of the role of the judicial system in the evolution of public policy in the United States.

• Acquire detailed knowledge of the roles played by practicing attorneys in the development and application of public law in the United States.

• Develop competency in the application of theories of the evolution of constitutional law to United States Supreme Court decisions.

• Demonstrate the ability to conduct original research on law and courts using skills in legal research and writing, quantitative research or field research.

Facilities

Students have access to the computing faculties in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences and University's computer labs. The school has four computing laboratories which house
24-30 computers each that are network linked and equipped with major social science software packages, including EViews, R, RATS, SPSS and Stata. Master of Arts in Political Science - Legislative Studies

30 semester credit hours minimum

Faculty

Associate Professors: Banks P. Miller, Clint W. Peinhardt

Assistant Professors: Thomas Gray, Lauren Ratliff Santoro

Mission

The mission of the Master of Arts in Political Science - Legislative Studies degree is to offer instruction for students interested in positions as legislative staff, political consultants, or other careers in professional politics. Students will receive instruction that moves beyond the standard coursework in American and Texas government and politics by advancing their knowledge of legislative processes and the role that legislatures play at the local, state, and national levels of government.

Objectives

Students in the Master of Arts in Political Science - Legislative Studies program will:

- Demonstrate knowledge of political institutions and processes in the United States and their effects on politics and policy.
- Demonstrate knowledge of issues in contemporary democracies involving representation, influence, and the balance of majority and minority interests, and the ability to evaluate political institutions and processes in the United States.
- Demonstrate proficiency in skills required for at least one position in the practice of politics by successfully completing an internship.

Facilities

Students have access to the computing faculties in the School of Economic, Political and Policy Sciences and University’s computer labs. The school has four computing laboratories which house 24-30 computers each that are network linked and equipped with major social science software packages, including EViews, R, RATS, SPSS and Stata.
