Developmental Writing

DWTG D291 Developmental Writing (2 semester credit hours) A writing-intensive course that offers students the opportunity to develop proficiency in the inventing, drafting, revising and editing skills necessary for writing multi-paragraph papers. Focus in on the elements of academic writing: purpose, audience, unity, coherence, organization, development, grammar usage, and mechanics. May be repeated (6 semester credit hours maximum). This developmental course cannot be used for degree credit. (1-1) S