ITSS3300 - Information Technology for Business

ITSS 3300 Information Technology for Business (3 semester credit hours) Examines key business processes in organizations and how information systems support the execution and management of these processes. The course also deals with how to structure and manipulate data that might typically be found in an information system using the database management system, MS Access, and spreadsheet software, MS Excel, to make business decisions. (3-0) S