LIT3300 - Western Literary Tradition

LIT 3300 Western Literary Tradition (3 semester credit hours) Study of major themes of the classical tradition in Western literature and their subsequent transformation. Readings will include works by both classical authors and their literary heirs. This course is required of all Literature majors. Prerequisite: Completion of 040 core. (3-0) S